“ Dave was a roommate of mine in the KA Green house back in 07' and we also pledged together. We shared memorable times together that one can never forget. He taught me about loyalty and honesty— two of the many characteristics that he held close to his chest. His love for the Atlanta Falcons and Duke Basketball will forever make me a fan of them. Having him as a friend and brother is an honor and I'll cherish our memories together. His legacy as an extraordinary human being is a clear message to us all about perseverance, compassion, love, and care for one another. I'll miss you my friend and I'll celebrate your life and your honor.

“ I've had the pleasure of knowing David since 4th grade Project Idea. Even though I only saw him a handful of times after graduation, he inspired me with his warrior strength while decked out in his newest pair of Nikes. Even though he was in obvious pain, he still managed to smile while oozing his charm, intelligence, humor, smart Alec ness, stubbornness, attractiveness, and humility. I remember him quoting “just keep living” on a few occasions. It seemed as if he lived his best life surrounded by those he adored-his family, friends, and band of brothers. Sending my thoughts and prayers of comfort and peace for all the days ahead. Cherish the memories made. Remember legends and love never dies -Amanda Williamson

“ David suffered greatly, no doubt, and the why of that is so difficult to understand. But David was blessed to be surrounded by such a loving and dedicated family. Your love for him and your devotion to him was unwavering. You stood by him through seemingly unbearable struggles, and you went the extra mile to make sure David did everything he could possibly do. I know he appreciated your constant care and devotion to him, and loved you all deeply. I didn't see David often, but he did indeed have a million dollar smile, as Candice described, and it was always good to see that. Your family will be in my thoughts and prayers. Love, Sandy Slayton
